Introduction

Historical Science and Computing

□ Historical Science

- A vast area of research concerns the study and analysis of primary sources / archival material
- Aim: to describe, examine and question a sequence of past events, and investigate patterns of causes and effects
- Common requirement: collection, recording, documentation and interpretation of information about the relevant 'entities of interest' (persons, organizations, locations, events, etc.) and their associations

□ Computing in the field has developed enormously over the last years

- Nevertheless, data management problems still exist and are still vast and varied

Current practice and related problems

- Current practice mostly uses spreadsheets or simple relational databases

- Common problems:

- Difficulty in collaborative but controlled documentation
- Difficulty in representing the details from which the documented relations are inferred (for tracking the full 'provenance chain')
- Difficulty in representing and documenting possible rich relations among the involved entities of interest
- Difficulty in extending the existing data structures on demand
- Difficulty of third parties to understand and re-use the data

Our approach: the Synthesis system

- ❑ Web-based information system for the collaborative documentation of data and knowledge in cultural heritage and the humanities
 - Can be easily configured for specific domains!
- ❑ Focus on semantic interoperability
 - Making use of standards for data modelling and storage (CIDOC-CRM, XML/RDF)
 - Containing embedded processes for transforming the data to a Knowledge Graph

*Aiming at the production of sustainable data of high value and long-term validity

- ❑ Successfully applied in multiple domains
 - ❖ Cultural Heritage: Museum of Agia Ekateríni Sinaitón / Koules marine fortress (Heraklion)
 - ❖ Culture and Science/Technology: Laser analysis, remote sensing (KRIPIS-POLITEIA, POLITEIA II)
 - ❖ Ecclesiastical cultural heritage (project «Ψηφιακό Αποσφράγισμα Αγίωνύμων Νήσων»)
 - ❖ History of Art (ERC project RICONANS)
 - ❖ History of Feminism (project FE.P.I.B.)

Data Documentation with Synthesis

System overview, web interface, data model, functionalities

Synthesis – System overview

- Data management system for the (scientific, administrative and collaborative) documentation of data and knowledge
 - Web-based
 - Highly-configurable
 - Multilingual
 - Supports versioning

- Utilizes XML technology and a multi-layer architecture
 - Flexibility and extensibility (in terms of data structures and data types)
 - Sustainability (XML documents readable by both humans and machines)
 - Database: eXist-db (native XML database)

Synthesis – Web Interface

Users create and document entities organized in entity types

The screenshot displays the Synthesis web interface. At the top, there is a header with the FE.P.I.B. logo (Feminisms and Politics in the Interwar Balkans, 1923-1939) on the left and the University of Crete logo and 'Synthesis Cultural Information Management System' on the right. Below the header is a dark purple navigation bar. On the left side, a red-bordered box highlights a navigation menu with the following items:

- Sources
 - Archival Documents
 - Articles in Journals/Newspapers
 - Old Books
 - Visual Material
- Related Bibliography
 - Bibliography
- Related Documentation
 - Library / Archive
 - Fonds / Collection
 - Journals/Newspapers
 - Personage
 - Historical Events
 - Locations
 - Persons
 - Organizations
 - Digital Objects

The main content area features a large map of Europe with the word 'Welcome' overlaid. The text 'Entity types' is written in red over the map.

Synthesis – Inspecting the documented entities

The screenshot displays the Synthesis Cultural Information Management System interface. At the top, there is a header with the FE.P.I.B. logo (Feminisms and Politics in the Interwar Balkans, 1923-1939) and the University of Crete logo. A navigation bar includes a search box and a user profile for 'Διαχειριστής Admin'. A sidebar on the left lists various sources and related documentation, with 'Archival Documents' highlighted in a red box. The main content area shows a table of 'Archival Documents' with a red border around it. The table has columns for Item Type, Author, Document Title, Date, Library / Archive, Creator, and Id. Three entries are visible, all of type 'Letter'. A red box highlights the table area, and a green box highlights the title 'Table of documented entities of selected entity type'.

 - Text
 - Avra Theodoropoulou (née Drakopoulou) (1880-1963) was an erudite Greek feminist the majority of the population (male and especially female) were illiterate. She had a professional career as a piano teacher in the Hellenic Conservatoire in Athens and she became member of the Greek National Conservatoire, as piano soloist, being a pianist and musicologist. In 1906 she married the Greek lawyer, writer and Venizelist politician Theodoropoulos who encouraged her to meet Greece's irredentist politics during the Balkan War of 1897, the Balkan Wars (1912-1913) and the Greco-Turkish War of 1919.
 - In 1920 Theodoropoulou founded the Syndesmos gia ta Dikaiomata tis Gynaika (League for Women's Rights, HLWR), an affiliated member of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance in order to struggle for gender equality (including suffrage) in the Greek law, and she published a feminist revue O Agonas tis Gynaikas (Women's Struggle) from 1923 on. By the end of the war marked the end of the Greek irredentist politics against the Ottoman-Turkish rule and she was a pacifist, thus meeting relevant ideas of feminists from other European countries. Until 1958 she participated in almost all the International Woman Suffrage Alliance congresses (later IAWSEC). During 1923 she was active in establishing the Little League, a feminist regional association of women from Balkan and Central European countries when she decided to take action in the Balkan Conferences along with Alexander Panagoulas and other pacifist activists and intellectuals. A few years later, she joined the (G)reek League against Fascism and War, until August 1936, when Ioannis Metaxas' dictatorship banned all feminist activities. By the end of World War II she was reelected president of the League and collaborated with the Greek women's organizations of the Left that demanded voting rights and social justice. She died in 1963 in Athens, a couple of years after her beloved husband.

□ Inspecting an entity's associations with other entities

The screenshot displays a documentation card for the 'Athens' location entity. The card is divided into two main sections. The top section, titled 'Location', lists various properties of the entity, including its identification number, name, native language name, other names, type, geopolitical hierarchy, and coordinates. The bottom section, titled 'Associations with other entities', is highlighted with a red border and lists numerous entities that reference the 'Athens' location. These entities include archival documents, newspaper articles, library archives, and historical books, each with a unique identifier.

□ Table filtering, Search, Ranking

The screenshot displays the Synthesis Cultural Information Management System interface. At the top, there are logos for FE.P.I.B. (Feminisms and Politics in the Interwar Balkans (1923-1939)) and the University of Crete. A search bar is located in the top right corner, with a red arrow pointing to it and the text "Search considering the full contents of the records".

On the left side, there is a navigation menu with sections: Sources, Archival Documents, Related Bibliography, and Related Documentation. The "Archival Documents" section is currently selected.

The main content area shows a list of "Archival Documents" with the following details:

- Showing: All
- Filter Table: resol
- Showing 10 entries

The table below has columns: Item Type, Author, Document Title, Date, Library / Archive, Creator, and Id. Red arrows point to the "Filter Table" input and the "Author", "Date", and "Library / Archive" columns, with the text "Table filtering" and "Ranking" respectively.

□ Configuration of new entity types:

- National organizations
- Regional-International associations
- Conferences/Meetings

- What information to record for each such entity?
 - How the entities are connected to other entities documented in the system (e.g. with personages, etc.)?
- Configuration is affected by ongoing research!!!

□ Improvements/corrections in existing entity types

- Please send us your feedback / comments / suggestions / any issue you detect!

Conclusion

Conclusion

- Data documentation and management with Synthesis
 - Web-based, configurable, collaborative!
 - Focus on semantic interoperability (compatibility with the CIDOC-CRM standard)
 - Aim: production of sustainable/reusable data of high value
- Outcome:
 - A rich, queryable and extendable, semantic network of interconnected entities

Future Work

- ❑ Data exploitation / publication
 - Presentation of (part of) the data in a web site
- ❑ Data Transformation to a Knowledge Graph
 - For supporting advanced querying and exploration that considers the rich relationships among the entities
 - For enabling semantic interoperability and facilitating integration with other datasets
